To-day Five Millions of American voter will go to the polis, and there, through the peaceful agency of the ballot-box, proclaim the and of modern Sham Democracy, and the the dismissal from power and place, of the men and party who, under the name of Demorrary, have perverted the Government, and subverted the constitution to the purposes of human slavery. To-day inaugurates a new era in American history. The verdict of the people will proclaim not a change of rolers merely, or chiefly; but a revolution in the whole spirit, influences and purposes of our government. It dethrones the demon of slavery, and seithrones the genius of liberty. It restores, as with a word, the government to the policy of its foundiers. and makes the constitution once more the instrument which our fathers designed it.-It settles forever, if Republicans act wisely, the question of the slave power as a controling element in our own nation; and in settling this question aright, it settlerall the questions likely to disturb the peace and barmony of the country.

Honor to the Wide Awakes of the Monuwomen and children fleeing from the task- mental City! It requires nerve to shoulder the torch there, as well as muscle. Still the Republicans do it, despite of groans, jeers, brick-bats and cludges! They mustered three or four hundred strong for parade the night with music and banners. Netwithstanding a strong police protected them, they were subjected to every sort of insult on the soute of march. They attempted to hold a meeting in Front Street Theatre, and when entering it were assailed by the mob. An account says:

After the Wide Awakes and their Republi an allies, smid great excitement and the terrible commetted caused by the immense crowd of speciators and turbulent beys out-side, got inside the Theatre, the others rushed in, filling the Theatre to sufficiation. There was an evident determination on the part of the spectators to break up the meeting.
Finally, order being partially restored, Col.
Wm. E. Coale, Chairman, came forward and attempted to call the meeting to order. Immediately grosss, hisses and howlings echoed with the Black Republicans? O, you sigger

At last Rev. Col. French S. Evans, editor peaking and at the end of every half sentence, shouts, yells, hisses and howlings drowned his voice. He courageously perted, and endeavored in a loud voice to make imself heard, but he encountered a perfect collam, The infernal regions could not have abibited a greater scene of confusion and amid it he was compelled to desist and retire in disgust, quistly making his exit through the private stage gateway without enacting his part.

At this point the confusion reached a highr point, and it was determined to clear the satre of all but the Republicans. Police officers, numbering nearly two hundred, un-der the command of Marshal Kane, were put work, and after half an hour the entire building was discorged of the turbulent spirits. They congregated in the street and on the pavement suiside, continuing to groan,
